NAVINE G. KHAN-DOSSOS

b. 1982

Lives and works in Athens, Greek

BIOGRAPHY

Navine G. Khan-Dossos is visual artist based in Athens whose research focuses on the complex relationship between Islam and the West in both historical and contemporary contexts. Khan-Dossos approach is rooted in traditional Western art history, whereas her painting is based on rigorous training in the philosophy and craft of Islamic art. Her interests include Orientalism in the digital realm, geometry as information and decoration, image calibration, and Aniconism in contemporary culture.

My TV Ain't HD, That's Too Real (2015) presented as part of the Art In The Age Of... series of the Witte de With Center for Contemporary Art in Rotterdam was a series of "in-process" wall paintings that evolved throughout the exhibition with a new layer added at set times each month in response to media reports on the ongoing war with the Islamic State.

Khan-Dossos studied art history at Cambridge University, Arabic at Kuwait University, Islamic Art at the Prince's School of Traditional Art in London, and holds an MA in Fine Art from Chelsea College of Art & Design, London. During 2014 - 2015, she was a participant at the Jan Van Eyck Academie in Maastricht. She has exhibited and worked with various institutions, including The Museum of Islamic Art (Doha), Witte de With (Rotterdam), The Delfina Foundation (London), The Library of Amiens (Amiens), Leighton House Museum (London), and the A.M. Qattan Foundation (Ramallah). She has published work in The White Review and The Happy Hypocrite.
